Global Alliance for Patient Safety on Healthcare-Associated Infections The Global Alliance for Patient Safety on Healthcare-associated Infections (GAPSHI) is an international coalition of non-governmental organisations and other non-profit organizations focusing on patient safety in the health care sector. GAPSHI works to promote improvements in the quality of health care that are directed at the prevention of healthcare-associated infections.

History The global alliance was founded in 2011 by a group of representatives from organisations such as the Joint Commission International, the Society for Healthcare Epidemiology of America, the World Health Organization and the World Organisation for Animal Health. The first GAPSHI expert group meeting was held in Geneva in November 2011. The first GAPSHI Ministerial Conference was held in Boston in November 2013. GAPSHI is based in London and is led by a president and executive director.

Core objectives The core objectives of the GAPSHI alliance are: to increase and improve health care quality and patient safety to reduce healthcare-associated infections

Since the founding of GAPSHI, the organization has published a series of resources and reports on increasing and improving health care quality and
