Features Key:

Dynamic Online Play: Tarnished Online continues to enhance the online component of the game through free-of-charge items, including characters and items.
A Reliable Server: The servers of Tarnished Online have recently begun to undergo regular maintenance. In the coming days, Tarnished Online will be unavailable for a limited amount of time.
No Overused Items: Because of maintenance, players will be unable to equip special items, such as ring special attack or characters with high attack, some of which are widely distributed via trade items.
A Rich Story: Plots and gameplay based on the story of Vanadiel, the Altadorian god of Shin Megami Tensei, will unfold one day at a time.

Tarnished Online features:

- Production in Japanese: Tarnished Online was developed with the collaboration of Atlus and in-house studios in Japan. This includes the key contributions of Yoshitaka Amano and the many Atlus staff who participated in design and development.
- Full Character Customization: A variety of items, such as special attack, armor, and magic can be equipped by character customization. Armed with a mixed bag of potent items, you can forge a powerful character with a unique appearance and play style.
- Gorgeous Artwork: Scenario maps will add a new and joyous aesthetic to the game, while cell-shaded characters bring fresh colors and movement to the game play itself.
- Single-Player Dungeon crawling: Players will be able to continue the story offline using New Game Plus or create a new character. Designed as a dynamic companion to New Game Plus, the Offline Mode offers an unforgettable adventure as the missing Vanadiel, going deeper into the rich story of Elden Ring.

Tarnished Online Features are Available to Players of New Game Plus

- Custom Spell and Artifact Level: Advanced customizations are also available, such as the level at which you acquire spells and artifacts.

What's new:

[color="#4d71bc"]5Dice 5Dice includes a large arsenal of dice and other tools that all have beautiful designs and can be used to create various types of fun gameplay. • Dice collection game 5Dice is an RPG in which you collect dice with your favorite characters, and then combine them to perform various operations, allowing you to create your own dice shape. Moreover, when you share your own dice collection with others through YouTube, you can earn a special item such as a rare key, magic materials, or an exclusive design. In addition to dice selection, you can create your own dice shape using dice and tools such as a fabric cutter, and print out or draw your own dice. Beyond a collection game, each of the included dice comes equipped with a cutout that shows the character that it came from. [color="#4d71bc"]The Infinity Cappuccino The Infinity Cappuccino was designed in collaboration with Seung-Taek Suni. The Infinity Cappuccino is a coffee cup that reflects the surrounding world and is able to cause drinks when used. The reflection type has open and closed functions, and can be displayed in a variety of colors depending on what color you select, allowing you to create a variety of different effects. In addition, the charging function lets you charge the cup's water when full, so you can continuously enjoy your favorite coffee. * Product content and specifications may differ from the device as upgrades and improvements are made. Q: getting permissions on ftpd I'm hosting a fairly standard Apache/FTP server on an Ubuntu VM. I'd like to know if it was possible to give access to a certain file to a particular ip address. Could I do something similar to this? Allowanonymous ftp: YES A: As a starting point, this article on configuring an FTP server may serve you well. In particular, take a look at the paragraph starting on line 129 of /etc/vsftpd.conf. On Ubuntu/Debian, you would do something like: cd /etc wget to retrieve a template for configuring vsftpd. Next, on Ubuntu, sudo cp README.Debian /etc/vsftpd.conf It would be cool to automate this, perhaps through some kind of Ubuntu hosted software. After doing that, ftp into your Ubuntu/Debian machine with a valid username and password, and find the /etc/vsftpd.conf file. Open it up and search for your local IP address. You should add that IP address after each address match that you want logged in. For example: AllowDenyLocalIP ftp:YES AllowDenyLocalIPADDRESS1 ftp:YES Allow
