HyperMotion technology was built from the concept of how feet interact with the ball when making a tackle or an aerial duel. FIFA's Fouls will be generated dynamically based on the player's and ball's movement. This data has been used to develop the AI of all 96 players in the game. This is the biggest leap in AI technology seen in a FIFA game to date. Players are more intelligent than ever before: Every player's intelligence is set individually and is user-friendly, intelligently recognising and reacting to the actions of other players, the ball and the opponent. Players are able to learn new skills and the way a game is played by simply copying their opponent's actions. Accelerated Player Ascent - FUE's "Accelerated Player Ascent", which is a new, proprietary feature developed for FIFA 22, allows the player to quickly accelerate while running, creating a more fluid and realistic player movement. "Fastball" - The first time a player pitches the ball using their "slider", the player's "Fastball" is activated. The "Fastball" is a special quick pitch-back from the player that takes a second or two to react to, but forces the opposition to choose between tracking the player and the ball, or the pitch. "Fastball" can be the perfect short-pitch solution to bring the ball back to the goal area quickly. "Triangle Move" - The Triangle Move is a unique manoeuvre where a player crosses the ball from one flank to the other and then quickly makes a volleyed pass to an attacking teammate. "Triangle Move" is a classic quick, fluid pass from one side of the pitch to another. FIFA 22 also introduces 4 new ball control modes: Quick - Quick is a quick flicked-ball control that puts the ball into play quickly. Ball Control - Ball Control is a new and responsive ball control where the ball is in the air and can be controlled in any direction. Dribbling - Dribbling is a smooth dribble, where the ball is spun and moved side to side. The dribbler can then run into space and pass to one-versus-one. Defending - Defending is used when the player is pushed back by

FUT Pro - FIFA Ultimate Team has changed in a big way. First up, we overhauled the full game rating system that determines how well you do in the game's in-game leaderboards and online rankings. For example, we give different weightings to individual matches, so a 5-0 scoreline in one match might not be as important as a large margin of victory in your other matches. Pro tip: Player ratings are also much harder to earn and maintain! We've also added a more robust FUT Draft mode, that lets you create your very own dream team, using an updated user interface for easier navigation and a range of new features and customizations. FUT Draft Mode - Create the best-balanced starting line-up for every club in the world. Then, add players to customised 'builds' in real time, or create the perfect team from scratch using new user-friendly FUT Draft tools. My Player - Gain access to all your favourite features, including new Player attributes like Pass Accuracy, Assists, and Goals scored as well as various new Player Customizations, including Player Tricks, Player Styles, Player Goal Styles, Player Mood, and more. There are also new Training & Friend Games, which lets you test your skills against historical players or your friends. In-Game stats - Overall, players will now have more of an impact on in-game performance than ever before. Players will perform better when they take on the challenge of a game, by showing up in large numbers. There is also more emphasis on having a solid understanding of your club or team, to improve your overall performance. In-game leaderboards will no longer show how you compare to players you have not yet seen in the game. Instead, your in-game stats will be based on your current squad and your team and squad reputation will be a significant factor in your overall in-game performance. Even if you already have a large fan-base, remember to focus on your club or team's reputation. As people see that you're playing for your club, they will more actively be able to support you, which will boost your overall rep. In-game Experience - Players will now earn experience points (XP) as they earn game-related achievements. XP will also be awarded for things like playing as a defender in a particular position, or creating a successful FUT Draft build. Experience levels
