Some of you might already know the game Scrabble Duel (from Gog.com), and that's pretty close to what Sidewalk Games (Sidewalk Labs) is aiming for with Duel in the District. The game starts with both players picking a house in the same neighborhood. It's up to you which neighborhood you want to play in, and where you want to start your game. Once your game starts, it will be a game of "turn-taking" wherein each player plays a game of Scrabble using the letter tiles in their home's neighborhood. The goal is to be the first person to reach the prescribed target number of points. The first player to reach 6 points wins. The game then continues on to the next neighborhood. Character picks Each player starts with a deck of 25 tiles from a full set of letters and can be any word that's on the tiles (misspelled words, common words, and even whole phrases are fair game), though will have to avoid playing dictionary words. Characters can also have some special abilities as you can see on the wikipedia. Once the game starts, players can "draw" any tile from their home's neighborhood for the next turn and the available tiles are then shuffled into their opponent's deck. So, if the first turn you played was an X tile, you could chose an X tile in the next turn. When one player finishes playing, their tiles are discarded from the game and the next player begins the game. The game ends when a player wins the game by playing one of the five progressive target numbers. To win, a player must play in the target number of tiles.

's interview RIVALS OF ATHER: KRAGGLING BUDDY is a project which is heavily inspired on the initial concept of ownCloud - a decentralized cloud storage at an open source level. It was founded by Lorenzo Carbonara and replaces ownCloud with an in-house solution based on Reality-Ray and plugin-API. RaiBlocks is used as a payment method, as the community is really interested in this payment standard. Here are my questions with Lorenzo about all the project and the current stand-by. 1 - Since there is no real end-date for the beta version, do you know when the Aather platform will be polished? Hi guys, sorry for the delayed answer, and, as usual, real life takes a toll over here for the last two months. We are hard at work on the final release of KRAGGLING BUDDY while maintaining a good momentum with the beta test. As soon as the release is over, we will carefully analyse the feedbacks and make the necessary tweaks to reach the perfect version. 2 - Mention your advantage over the other competitors, like ownCloud? Do you know about the ownCloud project? We all know that it has a huge amount of users, with a high potential, but the site seems to be dying for lack of updates for the last 8 months. And, as soon as the betas were released, the app stopped working, and it wasn't possible to continue its development as we could not enter, well, the main BETA ROM, and we could not proceed even on the APP API or through the COURIER account. 3 - What do you think about the Cloud Storage solutions, in general? Personal cloud storage solutions are really inadequate to use in day to day life, as they rely always on the internet and it's not acceptable that we spend 40% of our time online in 2017. The teams who developed these solutions rely on reading(or searching for) 10 times more than writing. And, this area with an even bigger boost for you, as a decentralized cloud storage provider, allows you to focus on what really matters to our lives, and that is to send and receive data at any time, without the need to be online. 4 - What is Kraggling Buddy's legal status? Can it

The Game is set in the British Sector of space. With vast field-sized spaces containing thousands of ships roaming and looking for a fight. In the centre of this space is the Homeworld, an old and decrepit space station, built to survive for thousands of years in the heart of our Sector. The Homeworld is a large, peaceful and friendly place, surrounded by a ring of spaceports, filled with forts, monsters and trash-jackets; a Mecca for space-pilots everywhere! The command and control centre of the Sector is the vast Necropolis, a labyrinth of catacombs deep within the sub-surface of the station. The City is crawling with all manner of creatures; from rampaging Titans, to long-forgotten monsters, to simple trash-jackets, and the occasional noxious alien. At any time of the day or night, and always observing, they wait for the first unsuspecting pilot to crash into their traps... We are lucky enough to have an enormous sandbox, built for us by the development team, but this space is not infinite, nor does it contain infinite levels or stages of difficulty. It is however, a large space - at least 1,300,000km (780,000 sqmi) in size (i.e. small moon). So what happens when we run out of room? We rebuild. What is the nature of your recreation? You are given total freedom to build an unlimited number of areas, with what resources you wish. You can choose to make a huge amounts of money by selling all of your work, or you can decide to make the minimum amount you can make, and spend your extra time making other areas.
