Engineering Mathematics Ka Stroud 7th Edition Pdf 406

Jun 9, 2019 . Engineering Mathematics By Ka Stroud 7th Edition. K A Stroud Engineering Mathematics 7th Edition PdfQ: numpy array combining elements with matching indices I need to combine all elements with matching indices in two lists a and b and produce a new list with the result. For example a = [1,2,3,4,5] and b = [5,6,7,8,9] the desired output is [1,2,3,5,6,7,8,9]. The following method works but it seems clunky to me: out = [a[i],b[i] for i in a if i in b] Is there a better way to do this? A: Use a simple list comprehension : >>> [a[i] if i in b else b[i] for i in a] [1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9] Q: For loop runs before waiting for keyboard input - looping in python I have a simple piece of code that wants to make a thread run after everything else is done, as it's in a loop and I need to watch it to update my data structure. However, when the loop is done with its code and loops again, it ends up calling the thread code before waiting for the user to type something in, then the rest of the code runs. I get it that I would have to use another thread to handle that, but I want to make it look nicer using a queue. This is the code: def do_queue_stuff(): while (True): # runs a few functions that update the data structure # but I want it to run AFTER the user types something in time.sleep(.1) def work(): while (True): # this runs while there's user input i=1 while (True): ... i+=1 if (i == 10):
